

“ In our experience,
each family member
functions in a variety of ways, determined quite as much by reciprocal functioning of other family members as by forces inside himself. ”

— Erik Thompson
Executive Director, VCFS

The 19th Annual Vermont Symposium on Bowen Theory offers a day of brief presentations by thinkers with an interest in emotional process in families and other groups, and who are educated in the ideas of Murray Bowen, MD. Please join us for what promises to be a stimulating day, with something for everyone.

Dr. Murray Bowen, a professor of psychiatry at Georgetown University, was a pioneer in family research who developed a new theory of human behavior and a new method of family therapy based on this new theory.
